TESTIMONIAL

“I started working in public finance over 30 years ago while I was in graduate school at the University of Texas LBJ School of Public Affairs. GFOA and the scholarship program played a critical role for me in completing that degree, launching my career in public finance, and building a community of professional colleagues that I value every working day. I had an internship with the City of Austin in 1986. The following year I received the Daniel Goldberg Scholarship from the national GFOA. I was so thrilled to attend the national conference in Memphis to receive the award and go to all the sessions learning about “hot topics” of the times. I think this work ethic of GFOA staff and its members has been the most important impact on my career.”
